THRONGS ATTEND FORMAL OPENING OF NEW MARKET

The formal opening of the Sunshine Market, at 6307-9 Mission street, last Saturday, was attended by hundreds of people, eager to inspect this new Daly City business establishment, which has been launched by the Sunshine Stores Company.

Much favorable comment was heard regarding this new market, which consists of three departments, meat produce and grocery, all departments being run by the Sunshine Stores Company. The fixtures are attractive, and the stock displayed in an artistic manner, pleasing to the eye. The very department is of the semi- department, striking a happy a and ll who ntered the new market last Saturday, and the boys and girls were made happy by the presentation of ballons, hundreds of which were given away during the day.

The Sunshine market is a creditable addition to Daly City's business section, and, judging from the immense crowds at the opening, will prove a successful venture.

The manager of the new market announces that the opening was an astounding success, exceeding his most optimistic expectations, and that he believes the many residents of this section who visited the store on the occasion of the formal opening left with a feeling of satisfaction, realizing that they now have in their community a food market of the highest type.

RECEPTION GIVEN AT GRACE PRESBYTERIAN

The reception given last Friday evening at the Grace Presbyterian church for Mr. George Archer proved to be a most enjoyable affair. The spread was abundant and the talk given by Mr. Archer on the old home in England was very interesting and instructive, as Mr. Archer procured a Ford and drove over 7,000 miles in England and Scotland while visiting friends and relatives. The men were loth to leave the meeting, and staid until a late hour. Splendid music was furnished for the occasion on the xylophone by a brother of Mrs. Lawrence Tompsett.

The theme for next Sunday evening at the Grace Presbyterian church will be: "The greatest event for Isaac, getting a wife, and what it meant to him and to the world."

The Ladies' Guild held a most successful and happy luncheon on Wednesday, and many compliments were given to those who prepared the meal.

The C. E. meeting last Sunday evening was very interesting. Miss Mildred Swan will have charge of the program for next Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. All are invited. You will find a welcome.

The Ladies' of the Guild at their meeting discussed plans, appointed committeees and made arrangements for their bazaar to be held on Friday, December 3.

OFFICERS SELECTED BY CROCKER CHAPTER

Last Monday evening at the meeting of Crocker Chapter No. 382, Order of the Eastern Star, officers were selected for the year 1927, those chosen by the members being:

Isabella Roberston, Worthy Matron; Kenneth L. McLean, Worthy Patron; Florence Stockton, Associate Matron; Vera MacDonald, Secretary; Jeannette Fischer, Treasurer; Alma Parkinson, Conductress; Louise Aitchison, Associate Conductress.

Following the regular meeting and election of officers, a bazaar was held, which was largely attended and greatly enjoyed.

MEETING OF CITY TRUSTEES

An adjourned meeting of the Daly City board of trustees was held last Monday night at the City Hall, all members being present, with the exception of City Attorney J. E. McCurdy, who is ill. Mayor H. H. Smith presided at the meeting.

At this session the board of trustees formally adopted the map that had been filed for the Lindome Manor Tract.

By resolution, the board purchased three lots adjoining the St. Maximus church property on Wellington avenue.

Airport site No. 2, located at South San Francisco, has been recommended by the joint committee of the board of supervisors of San Francisco, after careful deliberation and hearings by experts extending over several months. The matter is now in the hands of the finance committee of the board to provide the funds for the purchase of the field.

Election Returns

The voters of the nation, state and counties went to the polls last Tuesday and registered their choice for the different candidates, and now all may settle down again to their usual every day affairs. In San Mateo county there was not as much interest as in some former elections, owing to the fact that a number of the candidates were elected at the primaries. The interest centered in the selection of a county treasurer and justice of the peace and constable.

Mrs. Grace Lawrence Cooper, of Redwood City, was elected county treasurer over Gus B. Risso of Burlingame, by something over 2,00 votes.

C. C. Young, Republican candidate for governor, received 11,427 votes in San Mateo county, while but 3,947 were cast for Justus S. Wardell, his Democratic opponent.

Senator Samuel M. Shortridge made an equally good race, defeating John B. Elliott by over 8,000 votes.

The following are the unofficial returns from the county, and the figures given are probably close to those that will be announced following the official count:

For Governor
C. C. Young	11,427
Justus S. Wardell	3,947
For Lieutenant Governor
Burton Fitts	10,993
Charles O. Dunbar	2,648
For Congressman
Arthur M. Free	10,575
Philip G. Sheehy	3,763
For Senator
Samuel M. Shortridge	11,204
John B. Elliott	3,702
For County Treasurer
Grace Lawrence Cooper	8,304
Gus B. Risso	6,189
For Justice of the Peace
Edward Farrell	3,160
Ellis C. Johnson	2,999
Daniel McSweeney	1,847
For Constable
C. A. Dibble	2,645
James C. Wallace	2,778

Returns on amendements in San Mateo county show the following results:

Gas Tax, No. 4—Yes, 10,178; No, 3,809.

Racing, No. 6—Yes, 7,223; No, 6,943.

Highways, No. 8—Yes, 1,838; No, 10,904.

Repeal Wright Act, No. 9—Yes, 8,970; No, 4,902.

School Bonds, No. 10—Yes, 9,199; No, 3,043.

Bible Bill, No. 17—Yes, 3,124; No, 9,624.

Water and Power, No. 18—Yes, 3,683; No, 7,571.

Reapportionment, No. 20 — Yes, 2,598; No, 6,641.

Reapportionment, No. 28 — Yes, 5,989; No, 3,893.

The greatest interest in the election in Daly City centered in the contest for justice of the peace and constable, for county treasurer and the racing measure. The vote was as follows:

For County Treasurer
Grace Lawrence Cooper	650
Gus B. Risso	440
For Justice of the Peace
Edward Farrell	601
Ellis C. Johnson	923
Daniel McSweeney	354
For Constable
C. A. Dibble	470
James C. Wallace	802

The vote on No. 6, the racing measure was: Yes, 813; No, 341.

In the three precincts of Colma the following vote was cast:

For County Treasurer
Grace Lawrence Cooper	114
Gus B. Risso	226
For Justice of the Peace
Edward Farrell	170
Ellis C. Johnson	231
Daniel McSweeney	127
For Constable
C. A. Dibble	106
James C. Wallace	275

No. 6—Yes, 236; No, 87.

Amendment No. 4 the gasoline tax measure, carried in San Mateo county by an almost three to one vote, while No. 8, the Southern California pet measure was snowed under.

Quite a big majority was piled up in favor of the repeal of the Wright act. No. 10, state building appropriation, received a big majority, while No. 6, the racing measure, No. 17, Bible reading in the public schools, and No. 18, water and power act, were all defeated.

Latest figures from the congressional districts give the Republicans one more representative. The count shows the election of the following to congress:

First District—Clarence F. Lea, Santa Rosa (Dem.), re-elected

Second District—Harry Englebright, Nevada City (Rep.), now serving unexpired term of the late John E. Raker.

Third District—Charles F. Curry, Sacramento (Rep.), re-elected.

Fourth District — Mrs. Florence Prag Kahn, San Francisco (Rep.), re-elected.

Fifth District—Richard J. Welch, San Francisco (Rep.), now serving unexpired term of the late Lawrence J. Flaherty.

Sixth District—Albert E. Carter, Oakland (Rep.)

Seventh District—Henry E. Barbour, Fresno, (Rep.)

Eighth District—Arthur M. Free, San Jose (Rep.)

Ninth District—W. E. Evans, Glendale (Rep.)

Tenth District—Joe Crail, Los Angeles (Rep.)

Eleventh District—Phil Swing, El Centro (Rep.)

The election places Englebright in the late John E. Raker's seat. Raker was a Democrat. The delegation in the lower house will stand: 10 Republicans, 1 Democrat, as against two Democrats before Raker died.

Sweeping victories for wet candidates for Congress in the elections, backed by overwhelming majorities for modification referenda in several states promises that the battle against Volsteadism will be given additional forces at the next session of Congress.

Returns from the states indicate that the Republicans lost seven Senate seats and will control the upper branch of the Seventieth Congress by a single vote.

At least thirteen Republican Congressmen went down to defeat, thus reducing the House control to thirty, including La Follette and discontented agrarians of the West.

Returns indicate that wets by no means will be able to control the next Congress, although their present minority is expected to be greatly increased.

There were upsets too in the gubernatorial races. J. L. Patterson, Republican, Oregon, defeated the present governor, Walter M. Pierce, Democrat. Governor Carl Gunderson, Republican, South Dakota, was defeated by W. J. Bulow, Democrat.

Nellie Taylor Ross, Democratic governor of Wyoming, and the only woman governor in the land since the defeat of "Ma" Ferguson in the Texas primary, has been defeated by Frank C. Emerson, Republican.

Democrats won back the governorship of Colorado when William H. Adams, Democratic candidate, ran ahead of his ticket.

IMPRESSIVE FUNERAL SERVICE

A beautiful and impressive funeral service on Saturday, October 30, marked the passing of Mrs. William Hall, a pioneer of Daly City.

In 1906 she and her husband settled here in Vista Grande, and were soon followed by her son and three daughters.

Mrs. Hall was a native of Finland, and her fellow countrymen paid her the tribute of being the most beloved woman in San Francisco. Since coming here, all who met her and knew her regarded her with a love that few could inspire.

COMMUNITY SERVICE TO BE HELD IN CAIRNS' HALL

A religious service for the community will be held in Cairns' Hall next Sunday, November 7, at 8 p. m. A special feature of the service will be good music arranged by Mrs. Ella Haynes. Mrs. A. J. Newland will be the soloist. Theme for the evening will be "The Genius of Youth." Questions to be answered at the meeting: "The U. S. A. a democratic country;" "Should the Bible be read in the public schools?" "Is the home, the movie or the dry law responsible for the crime wave?" Everybody welcome. Cairns' hall, 199 Knowles avenue.

SOME NEW BOOKS

The John D. Daly library received 170 books from the San Mateo County Free Library, among them fiction, non-fiction and juveniles, ready for circulation Saturday. Some of them are: "The Man They Hanged," by Robert M. Chambers; "Monsieur of the Rainbow," V. E. Roe; "The Unearthy," Robert Hichens; "Winding Stair," Mason; "Private Life of Helen of Troy," John Erskine; "Perella," William Locke; "Mannequin," Fannie Hurst; "The Desert Thoroughbred," Jackson Gregory; "Parade," Emily Post; "Nize Baby," Milt Gross.

JAIL BREAKER SENT TO SAN QUENTIN

Maurice Allen, burglar and jail breaker, was sentenced to a term in San Quentin last Monday by Superior Judge George H. Buck. Allen had previously entered a plea of guilty of escaping from the county jail at Redwood City last April. Allen, with three other men, burglarized the Forsythe & Simpson store in January, 1925. While awaiting hearing on an appeal, he escaped from the county jail. He was later captured in Ohio and returned to Redwood City.

ORDER PAVING OF NORTH PALO ALTO

A resolution authorizing street work in the North Palo Alto district, just south of Redwood City, was approved by the county supervisors at Redwood City last Monday over the protest of some of the property owners, who declared that they are not satisfied with the proposal, and with John MacBain, Menlo Park supervisor, casting his vote against the measure. City Attorney Albert Mansifeld reported to the board that a recent mass meeting in the district registered 23 votes in favor of the paving and 6 against it. J. A. Brown, property owner of the district, said that the contract calls for the wrong type of sidewalks and that specifications are for too many streets in the district.

A petition asking the chairman of the board to sign a three-year-old contract for street paving at Lomita Park was taken under advisement just before adjournment. Legality f the contract is now being tested n the courts.

URGES OBSERVANCE OF ARMISTICE DAY

Dr. John F. Slavich, state commander of the American Legion, has sent the Armistice Day message to all of the Legion Posts in California, urging participation in ceremonies on that date. He says:

"On Nevember 11, we will again gather in three hundred of our California communities to rejoice that those principles of liberty, justice, democracy and loyalty upon which our republic was founded, still prevail. And at the eleventh hour, on that day which commemorates the cessation of world hostilities, we will bow our heads, to honor anew the golden memory of our comrades who met the supreme test of all mankind.

"Without distinction of nationality, race, rank or religion, they gave their all in order that our God inspired and God granted government might survive."

WOMAN KILLS SELF AND TWO CHILDREN

Depressed by ill health, Mrs. Lufrerry Inwood, aged 30, a former resident of San Mateo, took the lives of herself and her two children, Lufrerry, aged 5, and Willard, aged 2, at her home in Hollywood, where the Inwoods had moved a few months ago. The tragedy was discovered by the husband and father, Louis Inwood, formerly a prominent San Mateo business man, who found the bodies in a gas filled room. Mrs. Inwood left a note asking her husband to "break the news gently to father and mother." Her parents are residents of Chicago.

ADVOCATES WARFARE ON THE HIT-AND-RUN DRIVER

California motorists are urged to enlist in the nation-wide warfare launched by the American Automobile Association on the "hit-and-run" driver in a statement issued by the California State Automobile Association. The state association is one of 842 motor clubs throughout the country affiliated with the A. A. A., through which the nation-wide motoring organization is conducting its organized campaign against this species of driver. A statement from Thomas P. Henry, president of the A. A. A., issued by the California Association, says:

"There are two ways in which association members and motorists generally can aid in removing this blot from motordom.

"The first is to actually apprehend the hit-and-run driver, or at least give chase so that his license number can be made available immediately to the police.

"The second way is the reduction of this hysterical practice by educating all drivers to the utter, hopeless stupidity of it. Motor clubs and all other agencies should take part in such an educational campaign.

"The hit-and-run driver, from a psychological perspective, in many cases is a pathetic figure. He is the victim of the worst of all human emotions—fear.

"He is the victim of a human temptation, one that besets all of us—to flee from trouble. Fortunately, most of us are capable of resisting the temptation.

"A concerted campaign, I believe, could do much to show the hopeless futility of running away after an accident. Guilty or not, guilty of carelessness, negligence or infraction of the traffic laws, the minute the driver who figures in an accident flees, the burden of proof of his innocence rests with him, and he puts himself in the worst possible position before the law. There is a tremendous assumption of guilt that cannot be allayed.

EDUCATION WEEK TO BE OBSERVED BY LEGION POSTS

"Every American citizen is entitled to a liberal education. Without this, there is no guarantee for the permanence of free institutions, no hope of perpetuating self-government. Despotism finds its chief support in ignorance. Knowledge and freedom go hand in hand."

President Coolidge thus declares himself in endorsing the American Education Week observances which the California Posts of the American Legion will participate in during the next week.

Dr. John F. Slavich, state commander of the California Legion, has called upon every one of the three hundred odd posts of his organization to join with local bodies in the program projected by the National Education Association, the American Legion and other organizations.

Beginning on Sunday, November 7, with a "For God and Country day," the following daily themes have been suggested.

Monday, November 8—"Constitutional Rights day."

Tuesday, November 9—"Patriotism day."

Wednesday, November 10—"Equal Opportunity day."

Thursday, November 11—"Armistice day."

Friday, November 12—"Know Your School day."

Saturday, November 13—"Community day."

American Education Week has been set aside for the purpose of more liberally supporting and more effectively improving the educational facilities of the country.

WILL BEGIN WORK ON WAR MEMORIAL

Formal ground breaking for San Francisco's $5,000,000 War Memorial group of biuldings is scheduled for November 11, Armistice day.

The War Memorial group will cover two city blocks and will be located on the Van Ness avenue side of the City Hall between Grove and McAllister streets.

An opera house, a memorial court and a museum which will house the California Institute of Fine Arts and a permanent home for the American Legion are included in the group.

Charles H. Kendrick, former national vice-commander of the American Legion and a member of the board of trustes of the War Memorial, heads the committee in charge of the ground breaking ceremonies.

In the evening a carnival is to be staged in the Municipal Auditorium by the various San Francisco Posts.

FATHER-SON WEEK OPENS NEXT MODAY

National Father and Son week will be observed this year from November 7 to 14. Starting in a modest way some ten years ago, in Providence, R. I., the idea of special activities for fathers and sons jointly has grown from a small dinner program to national recognition and a mighty power.

Organized and fostered by the Y. M. C. A., under whose auspices it originated, it spread from local program observance to national observance in 1918. Presidents, governors, leading statesmen, and mayors of cities, large and small, have unitedly and individually urged the observance of this week yearly, that boys and their fathers might be brought and kept in more perfect understanding and fellowship.

The week this year will be largely observed in San Mateo county, and father and son banquets are being planned in many places.

MAN SHOT DOWN BY UNKNOWN ASSAILANT

Fired upon by an unknown assailant early Sunday morning, Edward Perez, of South San Francisco, had his left leg shattered by a bullet, and is now in the hospital. At the hospital Perez told authorities he could not explain the attack. According to his story, he was returning home early Sunday morning in South San Francisco when a man stepped from a doorway and fired a single shot at him. Perez slumped to the ground, while his assailant fled. He was unable to get a good view of the man, who worked under cover of darkness.

Printer Found Dead in Hotel

Edward M. Robie, of Burlingame, was found dead in a room at the St. Remo hotel, San Francisco, early last Saturday morning. He died from natural causes, according to the coroner's report. Robie was formerly employed as a printer by the Star-Advance.

WHAT A CONTRAST IN OPPORTUNITIES

American workmen can well consider the position of English workers and Russian workers as contrasted with the American wage earner and the opportunities open to him. The following article, printed in the San Francisco Bulletin, was written by Chester Rowell, former editor and publisher of the Fresno Republican, a leader in the progressive political movement in California and a past railroad commission of this state.

Mr. Rowell says:

"Public ownership in Russia fails to profit workmen—terror continues.

"Public ownership has certainly not increased the share of the Russian workmen in the total produce. Profits are still extracted, for reinvestment. The only saving on this account is in the absence of the little which once went for the personal luxuries of owners. And that is much more than equaled by the cost of a triple overhead.

"There is, in the first place, the overhead cost of keeping business honest. At first bribery of public managers, and now embezzlement, by these managers, of the funds of the businesses, have been the most pervalent crimes with which the courts have had to deal. To cope with this, a tremendous system of auditing, spying and prosecution has been built up, the cost of which is probably never all charged to the budget of the business protected. The moral breakdown was not caused by Communism, since the same conditions of business morals have always existed, but the cost of detecting it has greatly increased, without doing any better.

"The second overhead is the actual administration. Under the centralization and red tape of government management the total administrative overhead is inevitably much greater than under the watchful personal interest of scattered private ownership.

"The third extra overhead is the double management, one for loyalty and the other for efficiency. The foreman and detail superintendents of a factory are likely to be the same person who managed it under the old owners. But in all positions involving the authority of decision, Communists of tested loyalty are likely to be placed, to see to it that the factory is run for Communistic, and not for capitalistic purposes. This seems necessary if the system is not to be sabotaged from above. But it also involves duplicating the Communist managers with others, who are expert technically. The only saving, to mitigate these duplicated overheads, is the fact that the Communists, with their limit of 225 rubles income, are cheap, and that even their subordinate experts, while they may get more than the chiefs, are paid much less than under the old system. 'I get $2,000 a year,' said a factory superintendent. 'My predecessor got $20,000. He got too much. I get too little.' In the long run too little is likely to be more expensive than too much, in executive positions.

"The main difficulty is the lack of new capital for the increased business which Russia needs. Enterprises which do not meet their own depreciation cannot furnish funds for reinvestment in increases. Russia, the business managers say, needs an enormous increase of industry. Part of this need is political. Communism will fall if Russia remains predominantly agricultural. But Russia also needs a tremendous increase in either production or imports. The only present way to pay for imports is by the export of surplus crops.

"What of the Terror? It is not yet over. There is no more wholesale slaughtering, but there is an omnipresent spy system, which makes everyone feel unsafe and suspicious every minute. I could tell tales, from direct information, of secret arrests and untried imprisonments, which it would only increase the suffering of the victims and the danger of informants to make public. Russia is not a free country; it is not even a finished imperialism, like that of old Germany, where you were safe, though not free. It is a terrified, and therefore terrorizing, despotism. It intrigues against the rest of the world, largely because it is ignoratnly frightened of it. The rest of the world is similarly frightened of Russia, with as little justification. Danger from Bolshevism and to Bolshevism is over, but neither side knows it. So, like all frightened creatures, the Russian government is tricky and not frank to those stronger than itself and cruel to those weaker. Russia is a bugaboo, and a seer of bugaboos. Both ghosts need laying. They are unrealities, but they are real dangers."

Tammany might learn a political trick or two from a town in Chile, where in a recent election 291 per cent of the qualified electors voted.

ARE WE ALL DYNAMOS?

Quite frequently a particularly active and hard-working person is spoken of as a "human dynamo," but this term is popularly employed only in a figurative sense, to indicate that the individual referred to is possessed of uncommon energy.

Now the researches and experiments of Dr. George W. Crile, world-famous surgeon of Cleveland, and his associates have led them to the conclusion that all persons are literally electrical dynamos—that each of the twenty-eight trillion cells in the human body is a tiny electric cell—that what we call life is really an electrical phenomenon.

Going deeper into the subject, Dr. Crile found evidences to indicate that the brain is the positive pole of the body machine, and that the liver is the negative pole, with the heart, stomach and lungs as accessories to the electrical operation of the two dominant organs.

When the body is in normal condition, a continuous flow of electrical energy is produced, but this becomes weaker through fatigue or exhaustion and at death ceases altogether. Sleep permits the brain to re-establish its load of positive electricity, through a process somewhat similar to that of recharging a battery. At least these are the theories advanced, with scientific explanations, in Dr. Crile's recent book entitled "A Bipolar Theory of Living Processes."

These investigations by Dr. Crile are in line with the theory that all matter and all life are varying manifestations of electricity. While the technical discussions and explanations involved in a presentation of this theory are too much for the layman to grasp, it is interesting to know that the brightest minds in the world are being devoted with unflagging energy and zeal to the effort to solve the age-old riddle: "What is life?"

SMOKE IS COSTLY

The annual financial loss in the United States due to smoke is estimated at nearly two billion dollars. This does not refer to fire losses nor to the smoke produced by cigars, pipes and cigarettes. It is the amount wasted through the burning of coal without conserving the valuable substances contained in the smoke.

According to Gordon D. Rowe, chief smoke inspector of Cincinnati, the eliminiation of this waste would save enough money in a year to build a 12-inch concrete road 50 feet wide from New York City to Los Angeles and another from Chicago to New Orelans.

The smoke nuisance also pollutes the atmosphere in the vicinity of large coal-burning plants and causes considerable damage through falling soot.

Mr. Rowe declares that it is a crime against future generations to burn coal in its raw state, and recommends that it be pulverized or gasified, in order that it may be burned smokelessly and economically. By these methods the valuable by-products of coal tar may be saved, as is already being done in many industries.

When we see clouds of smoke rolling from factory chimneys we are also witnessing the dissipation into the stances known to man.

WARRING AGAINST UNHEALTHFUL MILK

San Francisco consumed 18,660,625 gallons of milk from July 1, 1925, to July 1, 1926, or 51,125 gallons daily, according to a statement from the department of public health. The milk is supplied by 173 dairies from eight counties, and is distributed in San Francisco by eighteen Patuerizing plants. Ninety-seven per cent of this milk is Pasteurized before delivery, while the remaining 3 per cent is either certified or guaranteed by and produced under the direction of the San Francisco Medical Association.

Every precaution is taken to insure the people of San Francisco against impure, unclean or unhealthful milk, the report stated, by constantly inspecting the cows, dairies, shipping facilities, Pasteurizing plants, and deliveries of milk. The high scores consistently obtained in competitive test, the extremely low rate of infant mortality, and total absence of milk borne disease in San Francisco all attest the efficiency, necessity and value of the rigid inspection maintained by the department of public health.

MISPLACED SYMPATHY

How a smooth crook may play upon the sympathies of his fellows was again illustrated the other day, when a forger on the eve of detection made a dramatic confession, threw himself upon the mercy of his community and asked for prayers.

A Mississippi editor and former evangelist published in his paper a confession that he had forged the names of two of his friends to notes amounting to $35,000, offered to make restitution, and pleaded that except for this act he had maintained high Christian standards of conduct.

Immediately the two friends whom he had wronged expressed their unwillingness to prosecute, while hundreds hastened to flood him with letters and personal assurances of sympathy in his "misfortune." But a less sentimental grand jury very properly proceeded to indict him on seven counts.

He admitted that he forged the notes in order to gain and maintain control of certain newspaper properties. Being a preacher, who had enjoyed the confidence of the community to an exceptional degree, he was in a postition to negotiate the forged notes without suspicion, and took advantage of that fact.

Yet, while some poor unfortunate individual who might be tempted to steal through hunger or want probably would be promptly sent to the penitentiary, this self-confessed crook will likely escape punishment other than that of having his crookedness known, as it is said that no jury in the county will ever convict him. In fact, he may become more esteemed and popular than ever. Such things often happen when misplaced sympathy gets to work.

Charles Brady Regains Health

San Diego Motorman Found Difficulty Staying on Job Due to Ill Health Brought on by Severe Stomach Troubles. Marvelous Tanlac Restores Him.

"Irregular working hours and equally irregular meals," says Charles Brady, a respected San Diego resident living at 4628 Georgia Street, "robbed me of good health. Eating became a trial, for I suffered from indigestion and gas that bloated my stomach. My liver was so sluggish that I was deprived of normal strength and energy. I lost weight, too.

"After reading about Tanlac I decided to try it. Immediately I began to feel stronger. My appetite returned. By the end of six weeks I was feeling like an entirely different person and was eating and digesting my food better than in years. I got rid of the sluggish, dragged-out feeling, and my strength and energy came back with vim."

This amazing tonic, nature's own remedy made from roots, barks and herbs, usually builds up weak bodies, drives out causes of pain and anguish. Take Tanlac. Results are amazing! Ask your druggist for a bottle—today.

Harvard Alters Former Policy

Coach Horween Showing How to Receive Ball.

Harvard certainly has changed its ideas about coaching. Football staffs of past years have been recruited from the ranks of former Crimson players. It has remained for Arnold Horween, the new head mentor, to break down precedent.

Horween, of course, is an old Harvard star. But for his assistants he is reaching into the Middle West. First, he engaged Chuck Carney, former Illinois end. Chuck will handle the Cambridge wings, a position similar to that he held at Wisconsin last fall. Then Horween added Jim Brader, all-western tackle in 1921, who served as line coach at Wisconsin a year ago.

Jim Cooney Is Playing Father's Old Position

The Cubs' shortstop, Jim Cooney, is playing the same position in which his father made a big reputation as a member of the late Captain Anson's Chicago White Stockings in 1890, writes Joe Vila in the New York Sun. Nearly all of Anson's stars deserted him for the Chicago Brotherhood team, managed by Charley Comiskey. As a result of this walkout, Anson had to build up a new team. His scouts in New England induced him to sign Jimmy Cooney to cover shortstop. Cooney was short and thick set. In a week or two he was fielding magnificently and batting heavily. Anson prized the little fellow highly and placed him at the top of the Chicago's batting order.

Anson played first that year, with Glenalvin his final choice for second base. Cooney was a fixture at short and the late Tommy Burns, who had remained loyal to the National league in the big baseball war, was a star at third base. Two of the outfielders were Walter Wilmot and Dummy Hoy, both obtained from the Washingtons, while nearly all of the catching was done by Malachi Kittredge.

Anson's best pitchers were the late Bill Hutchison, a former Yale man, who was well-known in baseball as "the iron horse," and Luby, who not only was a smart boxman, but also a powerful hitter.

Cooney of the Cubs, is a brother of Johnny Cooney of the Boston Braves. Their dad filled the shoes of Big Ed Williamson, on Anson's reconstructed team.

McGinnity Explains Why "Ironmen" Have Passed

Joe McGinnity, who claims to have thrown more curve balls than any other two pitchers in organized baseball, says that "iron men" have passed out of the major leagues because most modern hurlers grasp the pellet improperly and fail to take the mound often enough.

McGinnity, whose pitching career extended over a period of 32 years, maintains that "curve pitching, properly done, is no greater strain on the arm than fast ball pitching."

"After pitching a game, the young fellows of today lay off for a week," he continued. "I don't think I ever went a season in the majors without pitching at least fifty games."

McGinnity was first called the "iron man" when he pitched six games in seven days and won them all. He is working as a pitching coach with the Brooklyn Nationals.

Cards Win Apples

According to Westbrook Pegler, writing in the Chicago Tribune, Grover Cleveland Alexander, who made such a remarkable showing in the recent world series, is guilty of eating apples in bed. What could be more conducive to sleep than to lie in bed and listen to your bedfellow champing an apple? A bunch of old ha-tom cats on the back fence caterwauling along about midnight would be more pleasant. A Missouri nursery firm, hearing of Old Pete's fondness for apples, struck on the happy idea of spreading the vice and offered a box of Golden Delicious apples to every Cardinal player making a clean hit during the series. Nearly every player on the team won one or more boxes. Alexander, Bob O'Farrell and Babe Ruth, the latter making three home runs in one game, each received five boxes. What an awful noise there must be in Old Pete's room these cool nights.

BABE RUTH SETS SERIES RECORD

Bambino Only Player to Get in Seven Classics.

A record for participation in world's series by an individual player was established when Babe Ruth went to bat in the opening game of the annual classic this year.

He was taking part in his seventh world's series and is the only player to enjoy that distinction. At the present time five other players share the record of having played in six of the annual series. These are, Home-Run Baker, Eddie Collins, Wallie Schang and Everett Scott.

Ruth has played in three world's series with the Red Sox and four with the Yankees. His first world series was in 1915 as a member of the Red Sox. He took part in only one game against the Phillies that year and he was used as a pinch hitter, failing to connect in his only time at bat.

In the series of 1916 against the Robins he was used in one game as a pitcher and he scored a 13-inning shutout over the Brooklyn club. In the series of 1918 against the Cubs the Red Sox again used him as a pitcher and he hurled 16 more scoreless innings. He holds the world's series record of having pitched a total of 29 scoreless innings.

Ruth took part in the first world's series as a Yankee in 1921 against the Giants. He played the outfield in six games that year and he made five hits in 16 times at bat. In the following year he played the outfield for the Yankees in all five games against the Giants. He made only two hits in 17 times at bat that year.

In 1923 Ruth participated in his third world's series with the Yankees. He played in all six games against the Giants that year and he helped defeat the National league champions by making seven hits in 19 times at bat for an average of .368.

J. Franklin Baker, one of the players who shares the record of participating in six world's series, took part in four of the annual classics with the Athletics and in two while a member of the Yankees. Collins also played in four of the championship series with the Athletics and in his other two he wore the uniform of the White Sox. Schang has taken part in world's series as a member of three different clubs. He first played in two with the Athletics, then one with the Red Sox and then three as a member of the Yankees.

Everett Scott has been eligible to play in six world's series, but he took an active part in only five. He played in three with the Red Sox and then two with the Yankees. He was among the eligible players on the Washington roster last year, but he did not actually get into a game. He has since dropped out of the game.

Jennings Sees Games

Hughey Jennings, assistant manager of the New York Giants, who has been recuperating in the Pocono mountains from a nervous breakdown he suffered last winter, witnessed the first two games of the world's series between the Yankees and Cardinals. He said he had almost fully recovered from his illness. The picture shows that he has not lost any of his interest in the game.

Not Welcome

Marjorie did not like the idea of a new baby brother. When her mother returned home from the hospital their meeting was a joyful one, and as Marjorie settled herself on the bed for a happy chat she noticed the little stranger on the other side of her mother.

With a small forefinger pointed at the unwanted playmate, Marjorie demanded, "When is that hospital baby going back to the hospital?"

Clean Kidneys By Drinking Lots of Water

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys If Bladder Bothers or Back Hurts

Eating too much rich food may produce kidney trouble in some form, says a well-known authority, because the acids created excite the kidneys. Then they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, begin drinking lots of good water and also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity; also to neutralize the acids in the system so that they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts can not injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders.

MARINES GUARD MAILS

Following closely upon the announcement that mail clerks had been given orders to "shoot to kill" when attacked, one of the biggest mail robberies of recent years occurred at Elizabeth, New Jersey, where eight bandits got away with $160,000, after killing one mail guard and wounding two others.

Now the Post Office Department declares that "if it takes the army and navy to do it, the United States mails must be protected and the lives of postal employes safeguarded."

For the present it is intended to employ marines as mail guards, as was done for several months in 1921 with much success. An additional number of armored vans and armored mail cars will be asked for, and it is probable that a specially trained force of guards belonging to the postal service may also be employed later on.

Postmaster General New has also requested large employers to arrange to pay their employes by check instead of cash, in order to avoid the necessity of transporting large amounts of pay roll money, which he states is tempting to the bandits. He will also recommend to Congress that mail robbery be made a capital offense.

This recommendation is sound, but we have ample evidence that laws directed against criminals are of little avail unless they can be backed up by jurors and courts. The place to "get" a mail robber is on the spot. Putting the marines on the job is a good move.

SONGS THAT LIVE

One hundred years ago there was born near Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, Stephen Collins Foster, whose best known songs have stirred the emotions of four generations, and live today in the hearts of his countrymen as do those of no other American composer.

Millions who have sung and heard them never knew the name of their author, who was of a quiet and retiring, disposition, delicate as a child, and never robust.

He began writing songs at the age of 13, and by the time he was 20 his compositions had gained considerable favor. He wrote in all about 125 songs, of which the most famous have a Southern setting, although he was born, lived and died in the North.

Among Foster's songs which have had a universal appeal may be mentioned, "Old Folks at Home," "Old Black Joe," "My Old Kentucky Home," "Massa's in the Cold, Cold Ground," and the exquisite vocal quartette, "Come Where My Love Lies Dreaming." These and others have been popular on both sides of the Atlantic and their words have been translated into many tongues. Great musicians incorporated several of these melodies into elaborate concert fantasias.

Foster wrote both words and music of his songs, which made an epoch in popular music. He died in New York in 1864, but his plaintive, haunting melodies seem destined for immortality.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

That the name California is alluring. The mention of it presents to the mind boundless opportunities.

That the story of California is a most entrancing story; a story of obstacles overcome; a story of victory after victory.

That added prosperity for California is looming on the horizon. Business is getting better every day. As business grows, so will the state grow.

That the people of California fully realize that increasing the volume of business for the state is of vital importance to every one of them, because the whole plan for development and prosperity is built around better business for the farmer and the city business man.

That no state can inspire confidence on the part of others when it does not inspire the confidence of its own people. Californians have confidence in their state.

That a state which is sold to itself does not have much trouble in selling itself to others.

That a state sold to itself soon attracts the attention of the outside world. States that get favorable attention get the business.

That the people of California are progressive and have a forward vision.

Truthful advertising of the opportunities California has to offer will command attention and consideration from the world.

Scientists have officially selected twelve additional names for fishes, probably to designate new kinds of suckers.

WHEN WILL IT END?

Probably most people are sick and tired of the controversy over Muscle Shoals, yet it is an important matter and will continue to be of considerable national interest until some final disposition of the property is made.

The universal disgust felt over the failure of Congress to handle this question, which has been before it for more than five years, was well expressed by President Coolidge in his message to that body last December, in which he said:

"If anything were needed to demonstrate the almost utter incapacity of the National Government to deal directly with an industrial and commercial problem, it has been provided by our experience with this property. We have expended vast fortunes, we have taxed everybody, but we are unable to secure results which benefit anybody. This property ought to be transferred to private management under conditions which will dedicate it to the public purpose for which it was created."

Yet, in spite of this experience, there is a considerable group in Congress, headed by Senator Norris, of Nebraska, who would undertake government operation of the property. There is little likelihood that a bill for that purpose will ever pass Congress, and it is practically certain that President Coolidge would veto it if it should pass.

But this same group of statesmen may prevent the passage of any Muscle Shoals bill, as it has done in the past. In the meantime the people are wondering when this controversy will end.

OUR PEACE-TIME ARMY

In the reorganization of the United States army after the World war many new ideas were adopted in the light of experience gained during that struggle. The most important of these was the planning of an organization capable of creating a war-time army built around the skeleton of the peace-time force.

Details of this war-time organization are studied continually by the war plans division, which has provided for the handling of large bodies of men without the delays and confusion heretofore experienced when national emergencies have arisen.

The country is divided into nine corps areas, the commanders of which would in time of war have charge of the mobilization of all troops raised within their respective districts.

In the war department, besides the Secreary of War and two assistant secretaries, are the chief of staff and chiefs of seven combatant branches and nine staff corps. The peace-time strength is thus capable of being rapidly expanded into an army of millions with little change in the present plan of organization.

After the Revolution the army was cut to 700 men, after the War of 1812 to 8,000, after the Civil war to 25,000. After the Spanish-American war the authorized strength was 100,000, but this figure was never reached except during the Mexican border trouble. Since 1920 the authorized strength has been 280,000, but it has been limited by lack of appropriations to approximately 118,000 men, or about one for each 1,000 population.

While it is the sincere hope of all right thinking persons that its employment in warfare may not again be necessary, it is gratifying to know that our army is now organized along the most modern and effective lines, and trained to an efficiency unequalled by any body of fighting men in the world.

NOT MUCH CHANGE

Each generation of men from time immemorial has produced its pessimists and cynics, who have viewed with alarm the deplorable tendencies of their contemporaries.

According to these gloomy individuals, the downward trend of human morals has always been in evidence, with the skids for perdition well greased.

As a matter of fact, there has been little change in human nature since the dawn of civilization. At any time in the world's history there have been ample grounds for pessimism on the part of those who prefer to look upon the dark side.

A writer in the Boston Chronicle in the year 1800 pictured conditions closely resembling those of the present day, from the viewpoint of the alarmist. In an article entitled "Prices Current," he wrote:

"Morals—Falling rapidly.

"Modesty (female)—Quite out of fashion.

"National Honor—None on the market.

"Public Taxes—In great abundance.

"Religion—No price offered.

"Public Virtue—A contraband article; if discovered would ruin its possessor."

But there was nothing original in the lugubrious reflections of this writer of 126 years ago. The same things, in substance, were said centuries before, are being said today, and probably will be said for centuries to come.

PIGS IN A POKE

There is an old-time warning to the effect that one should never buy "a pig in a poke." But a lot of French people have been doing something like that, or worse, according to a recent press dispatch.

A concern called "French Porkery, Limited," put on a strong advertising campaign for investors, with such slogans as "Buy less stocks; they are paper; buy more pigs; they are meat." "When your pig grows up we will sell him at the very highest price. In the meantime we pay you from 10 to 12 per cent interest."

Thousands bought pigs they had never seen, and for a time received their interest. Then the sad news came to all investors alike: "Your pigs have died; we could not sell sick pigs."

Then the investors—not the pigs—began to squeal. Promoters of the scheme will be tried in court next month.

GOOD COMPANY

"She has no figure on the beach."

"I know, but have you seen her bank book?"

U. S. ARMY CAMELS

Few persons living today know that once the United States army employed camels as a means of transportation in the southwest. The story of the experiment, told in the Chicago Blade, is interesting.

With a view to overcoming the difficulties of traversing the great American desert before there were any transcontinental railroads or highways, seventy-five camels were brought from Egypt and Asia Minor in 1856 by the war department, while Jefferson Davis was secretary of war. The camels performed satisfactorily, but the army "mule-skinners" did not like the beasts, besides they frightened the army horses nad mules into a stampede on slight provocation.

Before the experiment had progressed very far, the Civil war broke out, and the project was abandoned, some of the animals being sold to circuses, while others were turned loose.

Some of these, grown wild, were seen in Arizona as late as 1909, and some believe that a herd still exists in the uninhabited wastes of that region.

Finding of their bones may give rise to erroneous conclusions on the part of paleontologists of future ages.

A fraud order has been issued against manufacturers of an alleged "hair remover." But alleged hair restorers appear to be immune from government interference.

Folks used 17 per cent more chewing gum last year, but were still able to devote the usual amount of time to chewing the rag.

THE McPHERSON CASE

Following a five weeks' preliminary hearing before Municipal Judge S. R. Blake at Los Angeles, Aimee Semple McPherson was last Wednesday bound over to the Superior Court for trial on charges of criminal consipracy and perjury. Her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, was also held to answer to the higher court.

When the verdict was rendered, Mrs. McPherson said: "It was to be expected. It was all framed against me. But my conscience is clear before God and man. I know I will be vindicated when I am put on trial in Superior Court."

On the 18th of last May the world was startled by the report that Mrs. McPherson, founder and pastor of the $1,000,000 Angelus Temple, had been drowned in the surf at Ocean Park, near Los Angeles.

The first doubt cast on the theory that Mrs. McPherson had met death by drowning came when police reported that she had been seen speeding toward Los Angeles in a large sedan wtih another woman.

On May 27 a search for Kenneth Ormiston, former Angelus Temple raido operator, was launched. Ormiston finally was located in Los Angeles and denied all knowledge of Mrs. McPherson's disappearance.

Mrs. McPherson was reported to have been seen in different localities, but upon investigation all of these reports proved without foundation.

On June 23, Mrs. McPherson appeared at Douglas, Arizona, and declared that she had been kidnaped on the beach by a man and woman, and had finally managed to make her escape from her captors.

Mrs. McPherson's return was followed by an investigation of the leged kidnapping by the Los Ang county grand jury. Circumstar that had arisen caused some of authorities, among them District torney Asa Keyes, to doubt her st On July 15, after a trip to Carr where he conducted an extensive vestigation, District Deputy Attor Joseph Ryan of Los Angels annou that Mrs. McPherson had occupie cottage there with Kenneth Ormis during the time she claimed to h been a prisoner in Mexico.

On September 16, after the dist attorney had gathered what he ter a mass of "conclusive evidence" Mrs. McPherson's sojourn at Car an order for her arrest was drawn

In giving his decision, Judge B said:

"This court is not passing upon guilt or innocence of these wo that is the province of a jury.

"However, this court is called to determine whether or not th fense or offenses charged have committed, and whether or not is sufficient cause to believe th fendants committed such offens offenses.

"There being full and suff reasonable or probable cause t lieve that these defendants are g in effect as charged, I order that held to answer to the same that they be admitted to bail i sum of $2,500 each. The bail tofore deposited will stand."

Of course, one shouldn't bu way into the Senate, but that ap to be the only way to get there

The childrens' numbers were a very attractive part of the program. They did splendidly and every one was happily impressed with their clever performance and excellent behavior. The vocal solos were all of very high order and were greatly appreciated. The talented Welch children are always a great addition to any program and were enthusiastically received. The program was greatly enjoyed by all.

FACTS ABOUT THE TELEPHONE

There are more telephone conversations in the United States in three weeks than there are in Great Britain in a year.

Denmark has the best developed telephone system in Europe. Yet the state of Wisconsin, with only about four-fifths as many people as Denmark, has one and a half times as many telephones.

In proportion to population, Vermont has over twice as many telephones as Norway.

Russia has about sixty times as many inhabitants as Virginia. But there are more telephones in the Old Dominion than there are in the whole vast territory of Soviet Russia.

London has just installed its five hundred thousandth telephone. New York City has nearly one million five hundred thousand telephones.

LOCAL HEALTH HINTS

By Dr. Roy W. Casey

HEALTH, THAT SENSE OF WELL BEING

There are several factors necessary that the body may be kept in a sound and healthy state. By that I mean both mentally and physically.

Diet, fresh air, exercise, water, hygiene and regular habits.

Your diet should always be well balanced. Plenty of vegetables, salads, meat once a day, and the fresh fruits in season. Stewed prunes, figs or apples should be eaten at least once a day.

Do not eat too many starchy foods at one meal. If you eat macaroni, do not eat potatoes with that meal. (I shall write more on diet later on.)

Every one should drink at least six glasses of water every day between meals. If you do not, you will certainly suffer for this neglect some time.

The system absolutely requires water to carry on its work of eliminating waste products from the body.

Water is absorbed into the blood stream, which in turn washes all the tissues of the body, carrying away the debris. The kidneys take the poisions from the system through the blood and eliminates them in the urine.

The skin is constantly eliminating poisons and helping control body heat. The lungs on the other hand doing their part.

These functions all take water, so start drinking more today.

Men actively engaged require more food than those working in offices and stores. The latter should get exercise in some form, as walking, swimming, or the proper setting up exercises.

Fresh air is absolutely essential to good health.

Sleep with your windows wide open, winter and summer, avoiding drafts. Get all the fresh air you can during the day.

Get at least eight hours sleep out of every twenty-four.

Bathing is very important these days, and should be indulged in freely.

Evacuation of the bowels thoroughly at least every twenty-four hours is an important factor. Constipation contributes largely to the causes of disease.

If you keep fit, disease will not attack you, as germs do not live on healthy, clean tissue.

Dr. Casey will be glad to answer general health questions for readers of the Daly City Record. Address all communications to Dr. Roy W. Casey, Daly City Record.

SUCCESSFUL PEOPLE LOOK TO FUTURE

Did you ever stop to think: That thrift which calls for regular depositing in a savings account each month, a portion of your income, means success, for success is only obtained step by step.

That where one man gets rich quick a million don't. Get rich the steady but sure way. Start a stavings account today.

That you should start building your fortune and have the courage to save.

That successful people are the ones who have a vision which looks to the future, and who build for the future.

That you can start an account with a small amount and it will surprise you to see how it will grow.

That if you would go in and get acquainted with your bankers, they will be only too glad to explain to you the advantages of a savings account.

That every man and woman earning money should have a savings account.

That if they did, they would soon realize the value of thrift.

Money in a savings account works for you instead of you working for it.

When girls of a Nebraska high school complained that the school rooms were too chilly, the board made the ridiculous suggestion that they should wear more clothes.

THROUGH ADVICE OF NEIGHBOR

Woman Tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"A neighbor advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which she said had helped her so much. So I bought a few bottles and tried it out. It sure helped me wonderfully. I felt much better. My work was no longer a dread to me. If I hear of any one who is troubled the way I was, I will gladly recommend the Vegetable Compound to them and I will answer any letters in regard to the same."—Mrs. Bertha Meachan, 910 Center St., Lansing, Mich.

"I had been sickly ever since I was fifteen years old. After taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I got so I could do all my housework and I am in good health."—Mrs. Marie K. Williams, Ketchikan, Alaska.

From Michigan to Alaska, from Maine to Oregon and from Connecticut to California letters are continually being written by grateful women recommending Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

The Compound is made from roots and herbs and for more than fifty years has been helping to restore run-down, over-worked women to health.

Are you on the Sunlit Road to Better Health?

Marjorie—"What do you think John said, daddy, when I told him that when we were married I wanted a city residence a country place, three autos and a lot of servants?"

Daddy—"Well, what did the paragon say?"

Marjorie—"He said that if I would sleep more on my right side, I wouldn't have such dreams."

Bad dreams are a good sign of poor digestion; when hard-worked stomach begins to complain, the whole system suffers and we have constipation, dyspepsia, offensive breath and similar disorders.

CALIFORNIA NEWS BRIEFS

Colonel John R. White, superintendent of Sequoia National Park, will try out a new system of snow measurement this winter in hope that it will save a ranger a twelve-mile snowshoe hike across the mountain trails from Giant Forest to Alta Peak, where the snow fall is measured at interva's all winter for the benefit of the irrigationists in the valley and in co-operation with the U. S. weather bureau. A twenty-one-foot structure has been erected with cross arms two feet wide and seven feet across, and the superintendent hopes to be able to read these with a telescope from the winter quarters at Alder Creek 8,000 feet below.

The cost of California's state government has increased at an average rate of 16.8 per cent every twelve months for the last fifteen years, according to compilations made public by State Controller Ray L. Riley. Deducting fund transfers and all other transactions not properly chargeable to actual upkeep of the business of the state, Controller Riley said the cost of government in 1910 was $14,866,850 as compared with $73,796,620 last year.

The cities of Lodi, Tracy and Manteca, San Jouquin county, will be sued for fines collected from violators of the auto laws and from liquor law offenders. A short time ago the board of supervisors passed a resolution ordering District Attorney Edward Van Vranken to begin action. It is the county's claim that these fines are illegally held by the towns mentioned. Lodi is asked to give up $4,545; Manteca, $195 and Tracy $5,555.

Boldly invading the "lair" of an alleged bootlegger alone, Mrs. M. J. Talbot, deputy constable of Whittier, staged a "one-woman" raid recently, confiscating 22 gallons of wine, arresting the owner and wrecking an extensive bootlegging outfit, according to reports received at Los Angeles from Whittier. "It was nothing," Mrs. Talbot said. "Despite their red noses, bootleggers aren't so bad as they are painted."

Public auction of lots in an adition to the town site of Ford, California, will be held November 8, it was announced at the department of the interior. Approximately two acres on each forty acre tract within the addition have been reserved by the government for development of its oil and gas deposits. Two hundred and eighty-six lots, having apraised value from $60 to $1,000 each, will be offered for sale.

One of the most important gifts of the year received by the University of California, a private library of 15,000 volumes, has just been presented to the regents by Mrs. Alexander F. Morrison of San Francisco. Mrs. Morrison will also redecorate a large reading room in the library and provide $1,200 a year for the upkeep as a reading room in which students may browse and spend their leisure time.

A new phase in the building of the Pacific Fruit Express yards west of Roseville was entered upon when the first pouring of the concrete for a building was made. The structure is to be a fifty by two hundred foot insulation and storage house. It is estimated that eight months' work is yet to be done before the yards will be ready for car rebuilding operations.

J. B. McAllister, exalted ruler of Susanville Lodge of Elks, has announced that arrangements had been completed for immediate improvements to the Elks home at Susanville. The lodge room will be remodeled and enlarged, while a new roof and front porch will comprise the main improvements. The cost of the work will be approximately $2,500.

California's new government forestry experimental station has been established at the University of California and work is being carried on under the direction of Edward I. Kotok, for six years fire chief in the California district. The new station, will be one of a series in the United States, and will retain the services of about fifteen experts and assistants.

The suit of the Yuba River Power company at Grass Valley, against the department of public works of the state of California and the Nevada irrigation District, which has been set for trial in the superior court of Nevada county on December 7th, promises to be the longest and most strenuously contested civil suit to be tried here in recent years.

That Placer county will annex itself to the Nevada Irrigation district is now an assured fact, according to the committee in charge of the project. The decision to join with Nevada Irrigation district came after a careful examination of many projects to get more and cheaper water into the northwestern section of Placer county.

J. R. Clark, real estate dealer, Calistoga, has on exhibition some apples that were produced on the Frank Moors place in the Calistoga foothills These apples are of the Roman Beauty variety and are of an average size. The trees bore 1,500 boxes to the acre, and one tree alone produced 110 boxes.

A rabbit drive staged near Cedarville recently netted 2,350 rabbits. Quite a number of Indians participated in the slaughter and were permitted to help themselves to the carcasses, which will furnish them meat for some time.

The American Legion Memorial Hall built in Merced at a cost of $50,000 has been completed and officially opened.

The Pacific Gas and Electric Company will expend approximately $22,500 on improvements to the company's property at Petaluma.

Marysville Lodge No. 783 of Elks has called a special meeting to consider proposals for lodge building to replace the quarters destroyed by fire last July.

The big sawmill, operated by the Beach Company at Placerville, has closed for the season. The output of lumber this year was 3,000,000 feet, the largest on record.

Work on the new Placerville Bank building at Placerville, is progressing rapidly, the foundation being completed and the concrete and steel vaults almost finished.

The movement for a uniform dress among the girl high school students has spread to the Willows High school, action having been decided on by a majority vote of the girls.

Grover Estes, Gridley farmer, has completed the harvesting of his sixty-acre rice crop. Three thousand six hundred bags were secured or an average of sixty sacks to the acre.

On October 21 Santa Rosa's new $500,000 Elk's building was thrown open to the public and a reception and dance for the members of Santa Rosa lodge No. 646 and the public generally.

Plans and specifications for the proposed new $200,000 Tulare county hospital to be erected in the city of Tulare were approved by the county board of supervisors in recent session at Visalia.

The dairymen of Madera county have organized and are taking steps to form a cow-testing association to conform with the standard California cow tests and to include all dairymen in the county.

Approximately 4,000 acres in Merced county are planted to almonds on most of which are producing trees that will bring crop returns to the county this year estimated at more than $500,000.

Answering a ring of her doorbell, Mrs. Walter Mumford, 30, Los Angeles was handed the monthly gas bill by a collector. She looked at it and fell dead. Police surgeons said heart disease was the cause.

Plans are being prepared for the War Memorial Committee of Contra Costa county, for a tower forty feet high of concrete. It will be erected on a site at the cross roads at Hookston, eight miles from Martinez.

There were thirty-five varieties of flowers and seven varieties of shrubs at the minature flower show held at Stockton as a part of the regular monthly meeting of the Stockton garden section of the Federal clubs.

E. T. Trimble, general superintendent of the Rosenberg Rice Mill at Biggs, is authority for the statement that rice growers in Butte county this year will get a gross return of more than $4,000,000 dollars for the entire crop.

The tax rate for Gerber, Tehama county, for 1926 has been set at $3.46, according to Assessor Z. P. Dyer. This is 66 cents less than it was last year. El Camino also has a $3.46 rate this year, while Los Molinos is set at $3.72.

A dehydrating plant for the drying of grapes is now being operated on the Mondo ranch, west of Oakdale. Only Thompsons are handled and they bring from one to two cents above the market price. Most of the grapes are being hauled to the plant from Modesto by the growers and the plant is turning out ten to twelve tons every 24 hours. The dehydrated grapes are claimed to be superior to the sun-dried product.

California school children are more briliant now-a-days than they used to be, if you care to accept conclusions drawn from statistics compiled by state educators. Though the age of nineteen is the time when a youngster would normally complete high school, if promoted regularly each year, over 40 per cent of high school graduates these days are under eighteen years of age. And the Department of education says further that 25 per cent are under seventeen and a half years, that 9 1-2 per cent are under seventeen years, that over one per cent are under sixteen years

DANIEL AND THE SNOW

John was driving Trotty in the sleigh to the supper party that was being given "way down the road." The others had left earlier in the day, and now, not long after they had started it began to snow furiously.

Daniel, the horse, now partly belonged to John. He seemed to know that John had been given part-ownership in him as a birthday present.

It was such fun to go off quite alone, just Trotty and John and Daniel, the horse.

Trotty loved the snow and the beauty of it as it fell so quickly and so wildly all about her.

But John was worried.

He did not want to admit it, but he had been out in more storms and blizzards than Trotty and he seemed to feel when a really bad one was on the way.

There was something about this one that seemed to him to act as though it would be increasingly bad.

"I hope it won't turn into a real blizzard or a gale," he thought to himself. "It has every look of a blinding storm."

Just Trotty and John and Daniel.

But they went on, the snow coming down thicker and thicker, so that it was hard to see anything else but snow.

And John was right. It was showing signs of being a blizzard—a blizzard such as a blizzard can be when it deserves the name.

On they drove into it, little knowing the danger that lay ahead of them, though vaguely, dimly, John felt an uncertainty about it all that he did not like.

"I guess it will be all right," he said, as much to reassure himself as anything.

"It will be fine," said Trotty.

But the blizzard was beginning. And the blizzard was of another opinion!

John and Trotty drove on into the snowstorm.

"I've got a rug for Daniel beside the one now over him," John said.

"So if that gets wet he won't get rheumatism. Not but what he isn't used to getting wet often enough, but it's a pretty long, cold ride for him.

"He was busy all week."

"Isn't it wonderful having him really partly yours," Trotty said.

"It's great," John answered, "and I think Daniel's pleased too."

Daniel turned his head a little at the sound of his name. But he seemed to realize he was being spoken about and not directly addressed, and went on again.

Daniel had been so much a part of conversations that he took more than ordinary interest in them.

"I think," John said, this time aloud, "we're going to have a blizzard."

"Blizzard!" laughed Trotty. "Why one would think to hear you talk that you came from the South—not the real South, of course, but south of here where they call every snowstorm they have a blizzard.

"It's just a good, beautiful, old snowstorm, and it makes my face feel so nice. Isn't it nice, Daniel?"

Daniel's ears responded to the question, but he was none too certain of the weather. In his way he was a pretty good weather prophet, appearing to know by little actions of his that he felt what the weather was going to be. He shook his head now and flicked the snow off his ears with more than usual excitement. Yes, a blizzard was on the way!

Evidence

"Have you seen my little boy with his bow and arrow?"

"No, but I can show you a window he aimed at and didn't miss."

Returning

"Hey, mister, your back wheel's going forward."

"That's all right, I'm on my return trip."

Jarring the Trotters

"Do you know Adolph, the butcher boy? Well, he just dropped 60 feet."

"Sixty feet! Did it kill him?"

"No, they were pigs' feet."

Gifts

Aunt—What did little Bessie get at her birthday party?

Mother—Six books, four handkerchiefs and the measles.

The Masculine Protest

Mother—Nonsense, Willie; of course you will have your hair cut.

Willie—I will not. It's too feminine.

Seek Changes in Old English Laws

If a traveler led a horse up to the Savoy or Claridge hotels, the manager, under English law, would be obliged to furnish shelter for "man and beast."

It is no dead letter either, for the manager, although he has no longer any stable on the premises, would send the horse around to a livery stable for the guest and act as though nothing had happened.

A bill has been drafted to remove some of the many anomalies in an act which has stood pretty well unchanged, for 300 years.

At present a landlord is responsible to a guest, up to the value of $150, for any property stolen on his premises unless he can prove gross negligence on the part of the guest. It does not matter how many notices he posts up repudiating responsibility, the courts under the present law will hold him liable. This is a point which the British hotelkeepers are anxious to see changed.—London Times.

Peach Twigs and Scientific Planning

THE peach twig dips downward, so many believe, when held over underground water supplies. So firm is the faith of some people in its supposed infallability that they never undertake the labor and expense of digging a well without making a test for hidden water with this natural divining rod.

In preparing for the growth of telephone facilities to meet future demands, there is no peach-twig substitute for foresight. All expenditures of labor and money must be based on scientific planning. Careful studies must be made of present and future conditions in the locality to be served. Probable population and the volume and nature of telephone traffic must be estimated years ahead. Plant must be made capable of expansion. Capital must be arranged for in advance if growth is not to be delayed.

One of the vital phases of the Bell System's task of providing America with a nation-wide, universal service is that of foreseeing and providing for the future needs of the nation.

STUDENTS EARN MORE THAN $250,00 A YEAR

More than $250,000 a year is earned by students of the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago through the aid of its employment bureau, by means of which those who need such help are enabled to put themselves through the school. This figure applies to the day students in residence; but the students in the evening school may work all day at their usual employment and take their studies at night. The only handicap in the case of the latter is the longer period required to complete the work. An increasing number of students from various parts of the country are seeking employment in Chicago to avail themselves of the free training offered by the Institute for Christian service at home or abroad. Full information will be sent to any who are interested on request by mail addressed to the Moody Bible Institute, 153 Institute Place, Chicago, Illinois.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

That individuality sticks out all over advertised marchandise.

That far-seeing, careful thinking people read the ads. They know the best is advertised.

That it is a well known fact that stores that advertise handle the very highest quality only, and the goods they sell give the greatest amount of satisfaction.

That careless acceptance of non-advertised goods on the part of the buyer often causes them much grief.

That retailers who sell advertised merchandise can easily testify to the ease with which they sell them.

That they sell them easily because advertising has created the demand and the merchandise gives the customer satisfaction.

That the only sure way for merchants to secure the best trade is by carrying quality merchandise and using plenty of newspaper space.

That increased sales and profits are easily made by those merchants who stock up with advertised merchandise and then let the people know they have them.

That it is the absolute reliability of advertised merchandise that makes them so satisfying to the public.

Advertised goods are best by every test.

Telephones Are Heavy Taxpayers

Each telephone of the Bell system paid a tax of approximately $5.04 for the year 1925. Figures for the year show a total tax of $58,186,816, of 42 cents a month for every Bell telephone in operation. This includes both main telephones and extensions. These tax rates show an increase of 120 per cent over 1910, when the average tax per telephone was $2.27.

A USELESS EFFORT

"No," said Farmer Corntossel, "I don't care a great deal for travel."

"Aren't you interested in foreign climes?"

"No. It's like the Arctic circle here one part of the year, and like the Equator another part. What's the use of movin' around when you can have the foreign climes brought to you?"—Washington Star.

NOT YEARNING

"Don't you wish you were a careless, happy boy, back on the farm?"

"No," answered the prosaic person. "I never dared to be careless while I was on the farm, and I fail to see the happiness in stone-bruises and prickly heat."—Washington Star.

OBSERVATIONS

The London Daily Telegraph is interested in war news from America, and prints a long editorial on the subject, in which it says: "An average day in the life of a citizen of the United States seems to include assorted varieties of battle, murder and sudden death. The American gunman has gone far beyond pistols. He works with machine guns and armored motor cars, and we daily expect to hear heavy artillery in action on the Chicago front."

Likewise the adoring attentions showered upon Queen Marie of Rumania by the American public has called forth banter from the British press. The London Standard says: "We have not as yet heard that by some marvel of engineering the Statue of Liberty which guards New York harbor has not been made to curtesy as Queen Mary passed, but nothing less seems likely to show how a republic can adore a regular royal queen."

An important tip to motorists is given by an automobile distributor, who declares that poor lubrication is the cause of most car deterioration. In fact, he states that 80 per cent of repair bills are due to lack of thorough lubrication. According to this authority, it is a case of spare the oil and ruin the car.

That American ideas have not been standarized to any appreciable extent is evidenced by two cases now attracting attention. In Jeffersonville, Indiana, a mother is going to court because her 9-year-old daughter is not permitted to wear knickers to school. In Grand Island, Nebraska, a minister secured a ruling by the attorney general that his daughter could not be compelled to wear bloomers while taking a school gymnasium course.

Some years ago the movies were blamed for a falling off in church attendance; later the automobile fell under the same charge, and now a group of Pennsylvania ministers declares that the radio keeps people away from the places of worship. All of which leads to the suspicion that a lot of folks just naturally don't want to go to church anyway.

Modern morticians have less details to worry about than did the plain undertakers of former days, according to a bill for funeral expenses of a gentleman of Baltimore in 1758, which includes, besides the charge for the coffin and crepes, these items: "Forty-seven pounds of loaf sugar, 14 dozen eggs, 20 gallons white wine, 12 bottles red wine, and 10 gallons rum."

In an article headed "Beg Your Pardon," the Birmingham News apologizes to former Warden Davis of the Flat Top, Alabama, prison for saying that he was accused of a shortage in his accounts, when the examiners merely charged him with "irregularities" in bookkeeping. The article of apology adds that Mr. Davis will face trial on November 1 on the charge of murder in connection with the death of a convict at the prison. A good newspaper always gladly makes corrections when in error.

Lee Carl Nichols, released after serving a seven-year term in the Michigan penitentiary for grand larceny, was met at the prison gate by a reception committee composed of Louisiana officials. They escorted him back to the Pelican state to finish a term for robbery which he had neglected to complete before taking French leave a few years ago, and he is again enjoying the justly famed Southern hospitality.

Katherine Gould, executrix, has asked the court at Fresno, California, to destroy an entire estate left in her charge. The estate consists of 5,990 gallons of wine, which she declares is a source of expense, trouble and danger to the custodian, as well as to the minor heirs. In this case liquid assets appear to have constituted a liability.

The War Department announces 6,000 amputations without the aid of a surgeon. The tails of that many butchers' coats were cut off to convert them into jackets for cooks and bakers, saving the government $10,000. The severed tails were utilized by making them into chefs' caps.

Mayor Groh of Dover, Ohio, requires drunks to consume a gallon of water each day they are in jail. Sentences imposed may be expressed in barrels if this custom becomes general, and we may read that "John Doe, serving a third-barrel sentence, had ten gallons remitted for good behavior."

Governor Austin Peay of Tennessee has come in for a sound panning by the press because of his alleged remark that the Florida hurricane was sent by the Almighty in punishment for the sins of the Floridans. One paper suggests that the governor is "several kinds of a jackass," which probably expresses it adequately.

It is estimated that the Bell operating forces in the state of Kentucky handled more than 131,364,977 originating local telephone calls and 2,057,966 long distance messages during 1925. This was an increase of about 5 per cent over the previous year.

NEWS NOTES OF PERSONAL INTEREST

By MARTHA WORST

Kathryn McKeown, of 6099 Mission street, is reported ill.

Mrs. Dubic returned Tuesday from St. Mary's Help hospital. She is recovering rapidly.

The steps on the side of Ryan's hall were knocked down on Hallowe'en by some of the celebrators.

Esther Vireno and Florence Stockton, of Daly City, attended a Hallowe'en party Saturday night in San Francisco.

Building permits have been issued to Victor Bjors, 1013 Brunswick street, for five rooms and garage, and E. J. Armando, 246 Winchester street, for six rooms and garage.

W. C. Ulrich, of 53 Shakespeare street, left last week on a business trip to Honolulu, in the interests of the Dohrman Hotel Supply Company, sailing on the Matsonia, which arrived at Honolulu last Tuesday. Mr. Ulrich expect to be back home in about six weeks.

Mrs. Luella D. Pepper, of W. C. Lasswell's, is ill with a severe cold.

Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Savage and family called on friends on Theta avenue last Monday.

Last Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Wall were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Anderson at their beautiful new home in Colonial Park.

This Saturday evening the State Theatre will present Warner Baxter and Clara Bow in "The Runaway." There will also be a comedy, cartoon and other attractions.

Don't forget the whist to be held by the young ladies of the St. Maximus Club, Thursday evening, November 18. The party will be held in the parish hall of St. Maximus.

Last Saturday evening the Misses Elsie Fahy, Marg O'Connor, Marg Varni, Tessie O'Connor, Mr. Al Kennedy, Mr. John Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Wall were among those who spent a most enjoyable evening at a Hallowe'en party given at the home of Mr. Joe Henderson in San Francisco.

Jack Doyle has a new muffler on his car. He is setting a good example to the motorists of Daly City.

Mrs. A. W. Fell, 148 Santa Cruz avenue, has gone to Los Angeles and will remain there until after the Christmas holidays.

Mrs. Fricke, 148 Santa Cruz avenue, gave a birthday party this week in honor of the birthday of her daughter, Dorothy, who was six years old.

Mr. and Mrs. Pearlman and daughter Belle, Mr. and Mrs. Kanter and Mr. and Mrs. L. Ross and daughter Esther spent Sunday at Mrs. Sherwood's country home at Landsdale.

The State Theatre will present two features next Sunday, Richard Talmadge in "The Blue Streak," and Laura La Plant in "The Beautiful Cheat."

The whole district is somewhat cast down over the defeat of the Jefferson high football team by South San Francisco. This will be the only league game of the season for Jefferson.

Mrs. Josie S. Frary made a hurried trip to Los Angeles over the week end to visit her son, who is ill. He is now at his mother's home in Daly City, and all of his friends are hoping for a rapid recovery.

The Misses Marg and Tessie O'Connor, with a party of young friends, attended the football game Sunday played between the Olympic Club and St. Marys, the latter being victorious. The game was at Ewing Field.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Company No. 3, Daly City Volunteer Fire Department, will hold their regular monthly whist on Thursday evening, November 11. Refreshments will be served and the usual good time is promised.

Eddie's Advershow continues to be one of the features of the Wednesday performance at the State Theatre. This week in addition to Eddie's Advershow, "The Grand Duchess and the Waiter" will be presented. This is one of Adalph Menjou's best pictures.

Hallowe'en "spirits" were abroad last Saturday night, and many windows were eveidence of busy work during the night. The real estate office of the Metropolis Homestead Realty Co., at the corner of Citrus avenue and Mission street, is still in an upset condition due to the frolicksomeness of these "spirits." Fortunatel none of the schools were disturbed to any great extent.

Miss Dixson and Miss Wartell, teachers of the Roseville schools, Sacramento county, visited Daly City schools Thursday of last week. Their object was to observe local administration in various schools. They were particularly well pleased with the management of the Vista Grande school, where they obtained many ideas that they intend to use in the Roseville schools. The day they spent there was as a part of their institute.

Among those who were entertained at a Hallowe'en party last Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fricke were Mrs. Graham, Mr. Kirchoff and Mrs. Kirchoff, Mrs. H. O'Connor, Mr. Joseph and many others. Among the many Hallowe'en pranks was fortune telling, which was enjoyed by all. During the course of the midnight feast Mrs. Kirchoff kept the guests bubbling over with joy at her usual witty sayings.

Last Friday night the C and D basketball teams met their rivals, South San Francisco, in the South San Francisco gym. Both teams put up a good fight, and the D's came away as victors with an 8 to 0 score. The C's lost, 7 to 2. Today another game will be played between the South San Francisco and the Jefferson D's. This game will decide the championship, as South San Francisco and Jefferson Union high school have each won one game so far. Go and root for Jefferson and help the team "bring home the bacon."

Mrs. Matilda Hall, of 551 Vista Grande avenue, passed away on October 28. Mrs. Hall was the beloved wife of William Hall, and the loving mother of Mrs. Bertha Saarinen, Mrs. Jeanne Wolfe, Mrs. Rose Parker and Edward Hall, the idolized grandmother of Mrs. Helen Ojila, Mrs. Ruth Gigli, Rae and Eunice Wolfe, William Hall and Victon and Albert Saarinen. She was a native of Finland. The funeral services were held Saturday, October 30, at 3:30 p. m., from the new mortuary chapel of W. C. Lasswell & Co., 6154 Mission street. Interment in Cypress Lawn Memorial Par.

LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS ENJOY "PLAY DAY" EVENTS

The girls of Jefferson Union high school attended a "Play Day" at Burlingame last Saturday. They returned with a high number of points which they earned after a hard fight. They had a wonderful time and enjoyed everything, including a delicious luncheon served at the Burlingame cafeteria.

The Junior-Senior basketball teams of Jefferson ad Sequoia played basketball, Jefferson winning, 29 to 9.

The Sophomore soccer team tied Burlingame, 0 to 0.

The Freshmen played hit-pin baseball and won, 35 to 15.

The idea of these play days is to bring more girls together and give everyone a chance. When the girls were in the league, only one team represented the school and only the best girls had a chance to participate. These play days are much more popular, for more people take part and have more fun.

PREVENTIVE DENTISTRY— ITS IMPORTANCE TO HEALTH

By Dr. W. J. Lantheaume

Axioms: 1. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.
2. Blind men see far into the night.
3. Sympathy is detrimental.
4. All that is not positive is negative.
5. Darkness is the absence of light.

Ralph Parlette says: "Some of us learn to go forward with a few bumps, but most of us are 'naturally bright,' and have to be pulverized."

Construction is far superior to repairation, being cheaper, more economical and permanent.

If you are enlightened to these acts: That daily hygiene of the mouth, and early professional advice, will positively reduce dental troubles to a minimum, then why not refuse to be bumped until you are black and blue? You know it takes an exceptionally hard bump, or many consecutive bumps, before the colors are reached. Some of us evidently enjoy the harmony of black and blue—some must be "naturally bright," for they have mastered the appreciation of color harmony and prefer crimson red.

We all crave sympathy—mostly, I presume, because it does us no good. Perfection is positive and we are as positive as our perfection. Hence the diffused state of negative thinking hinders our goal to perfection-positiveness.

Register this: Teeth have troubles because they are subjected to "bumps." They become "black and blue," too, and if they are treated with one ounce of prevention they are positively worth a pound of negative cure. Teeth are just a co-part of the masticatory apparatus; are supplied with arteries, veins, nerves, and lymphatics; they have this medium of communication with all the substations of the body, and often in a state of stress, the wires are hot with the attempts to transmit a message of pain to the central office, the brain. The sub-stations are overworked, tired, and become sluggish—finally knocked unconscious. Then there is conjestion. Feverish attempts are made by the handfull of phagocytic pioneers to blaze a temporary line of communication. Listen! You can't expect even pioneers to work all the time; they need co-operation; lots of it.

In conclusion: Mouth infection is often due to neglect, and may (not always) cause serious systematic involvements. These tear down and destroy the positive life, and extract perfection from mind and body. In other words, it lowers the resistance and slows down the sight, yes, even of a blind man, who sees far into the night.

To the Voters of the First Township, San Mateo County:

Please accept my sincere appreciation of the wonderful complimentary vote given me at the general election Tuesday last.

While I announced my withdrawal from the race for justice of the peace in the newspapers of the township several weeks ago, it is apparent many voters either did not see the announcement or intentionally cast a vote of confidence in me.

Again thanking you for your consideration, I remain,

Very truly yours,
DANIEL McSWEENEY.

The work of installing the new heating system at the Woodrow Wilson school is progressing rapidly. However the warm weather is still very welcome.

Next Thursday and Friday, the State Theatre will present "Silence," in which Raymond Hatton is starred. This picture has a splendid reputation, and patrons of the State are eagerly looking forward to seeing it.

Jefferson high school is sending some representatives to Stanford University this Friday and Saturday. They will attend the annual meeting of the Scholastic Press Association. The representatives are Misses Helen Smith, Helen Ginsberg, Delilah Valdivia and Evelyn Smith. Miss Staib will accompany them as the faculty advisor of the Annual, "Jefferson Spirit," and the school paper, the Totem Pole. Miss Reveal will also attend. She is the business manager or advisor of the Totem Pole and the Jefferson Spirit.
